YOUROPE LAUNCH PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATE IN EVENT SAFETY AND SECURITY MANAGEMENT

YOUROPE and Buckinghamshire New University (Bucks) are pleased to announce the launch of the Professional Certificate in Event Safety and Security Management. This new educational programme is designed to provide a comprehensive resource for event safety management, promotion and security staff at festivals across Europe which allows study of important aspects of organisational and operational management.

Eight modules have been created to upskill those working at festivals and give them knowledge and information so that they not only understand more about their environment but more about management processes in the events industry. This will also create a career pathway and give those working at festivals a set of skills, and a qualification to help them further their career in the events industry. It will also give employers security in the knowledge that those working for them have the right knowledge to support their event.

The complete programme, written by industry experts and academics, comprises eight individual modules, each to be delivered in one training day by appropriately qualified persons. The modules are as follows:

- Legal Issues
- Business Continuity
- Risk Evaluation and Management
- Emergency Planning
- Leadership and Supervision
- Financial Controls
- Pit Safety Management
- Logistics and Event Planning

The student can undertake any one or all of the modules, and will need to successfully complete a total of five to be awarded the Professional Certificate.

Organisations have the option of delivering the course using their own staff, who will require to be trained in the course content and delivery by Bucks, or to have the course delivered on site by our own educators. Forty YOUROPE members have already been trained to deliver the courses. You can also use qualified staff from your own country to deliver the programmes by providing a resume of these staff to the University. The course pack includes a print copy of all resources and a CD of powerpoint presentations, workbooks and tutor notes. The course is extremely cheap to support the dissemination of this kind of information across Europe.

To order the course and for further information, please contact the Blended Learning Unit Registrar at Bucks, Mr Peter Brown, at pbrown01@bucks.ac.uk.
